A poetic vision / picture from God about how pray paves the way for revival.

A black veil hanging over Europe

A black veil is hanging over Europe. When I "'saw" it, it still seemed quite far away. But as I watched it, I could see it was moving. And it came closer. I sensed it was to cover the whole earth. And It seemed to start with Europe. Thereafter it would quickly grow and cover the whole globe.

As long as the veil was not hindering the people in their daily duties, many seemed not to be bothered. They just tried to ignore it. But it came closer and closer. Finally people were not able to walk upright any more. They were fearful and bended under the veil.

As I was praying I almost felt the pressure and the fear and I shouted to the Lord: What are we going to do? How can we hinder this happening?

Then I looked up and saw the scenery from a distance. Yes, the globe was wrapped up in this black material, but coming out of the material were something like white sharp needles.

They were popping up all over! In East and West. Multitudes. They didn't bend. They were standing tall, piercing the veil as it came down on them. The top of those needles was thin, hardly to be seen. One would think they could not do any harm. But only the top was thin. The needles (with a shape like missiles) got thicker and thicker and at their bottom they were solid planted on rocks. As the veil kept coming down over them, the material started to crack!

At places with many needles in line, the material would burst and role away like a curtain.

I felt that all those 'needles' were Aglow women around the globe, standing on the Rock, praying and worshipping the Lord. They didn't fight against the veil. But most important: they didn't bend under it. They just 'stood' .

Well, perhaps the needles don't represent Aglow women only, but all Christians trusting the Lord, standing 'tall' on the Rock.

Somehow I felt in my spirit, that this was (is) a special calling upon the Aglow ministry: to help cutting the veil into pieces.
